

Stephanie Marie Heckman I love this and I shared it. However, what do you propose that we do to end the use and exploitation of animals? It seems almost impossible in a world that refuses to see animals as sentient beings that deserve rights and respect. I promote veganism as much as possible but most people seem so against it.

Dan Cudahy Stephanie: Patient, relentless, and persistent abolitionist vegan education over years and decades by tireless abolitionist vegan advocates is the only thing that will erode and eventually end the disease and dogmatic cultural prejudice of speciesism and its symptom, the use and exploitation of animals.
